FEDERAL HOUSING SURVEY COMPILED

Local Effort Under Way to Determine Extent of Improvements Possible Here

Under the direction of a committee appointed by the Ukiah Chamber of Commerce, four men are now busy canvassing the city to determine what extent the Federal Housing Act can be made attractive to residents of the city. Each canvasser has a certain district allotted him as his portion of the work of gathering such data as is required by the government.

The work of the survey is made possible by SERA funds available for that particular purpose and is furnishing temporary employment to five people.

Primarily, the work of the survey is to encourage residents of the city to take advantage of this opporunity to make improvements, build additions and repair their property. Data compiled will show the number and kind of individual projects, the probable amount of money needed for their completion and the nature and amount of employment they will furnish.

Anyone owning property or an equity in property consistent with the provisions of the act, who have an income aggregating five times the amount of the monthly payment on such loan as they take under the housing act, are eligible for a loan, providing there are no adverse circumstances.

The purpose of the Federal Housing Act is to guarantee the banks making the loans to the local projects against loss, and to assist in inaugurating a season of property improvements to furnish employment to building tradesmen, and revive business among related industries.

All who would take advantage of the provisions should be prepared to answer questions put by the canvassers when they call. It is our opportunity to get a great amount of much-needed repairing done and other desirable improvements made.

TO THE PUBLIC

Dr. R. M. Curtner is taking over my dental office, remodeled and equipped up to date.

He is a graduate of the U. C. Dental College, and comes well recommended.

I deeply appreciate the patronage accorded me in the past, and ask a continuance of it for Dr. Curtner. Give him a trial—you will like him.

Merchants' Party a Successful Affair; Plan Another Soon

One hundred and fifty Ukiahans turned out last Wednesday night to take part in the first party held under the sponsorship of the Independent Merchants association of this city. The affair was held in the Saturday Afternoon club building.

The gathering was purely social and the evening was pleasantly spent at cards, in dancing and social chit-chat. A 4-piece orchestra from Ray Taillieur's dance band furnished music for the dance, and a buffet luncheon of plentiful and substantial elements was provided for all.

So enthusiastic were the participants in their endorsement of this first effort of its kind, that another similar affair will be attempted shortly.

SEASON'S RAINFALL

E. W. Hyden reports a total of 23.37 inches of rain for the season as against 18.64 inches for this date last year, as shown by records kept at his Park boulevard residence.

Fosters Sign Lease On Hildreth Store

As forecast in the Dispatch-Democrat exclusively, last week, the owners of Foster's Variety Store have signed an extensive lease on the Hildreth store building on south State street, just vacated by the Lieurance Stores. The lease was signed Thursday and the work of remodeling the intertior of the storeroom will begin soon. Occupancy will be taken and the store open for business April 1.

Although there is to be no change in the firm name, Arlington Foster will come to Ukiah from Sebastopol, where he has been engaged in business, and will enter into a partnership with his parents in the new store, and the stock of merchandise will be greatly enlarged.

The Dispatch-Democrat congratulates the Fosters and predicts success for the new venture.

ASSOCIATED WITH COHENS

Joseph Sternberg of San Francisco, a son-in-law of Mrs. Joseph Cohen, has taken residence in Ukiah and an interest in the business established by the late Joseph Cohen, which has been conducted by the cons since the death of their father.

151 NOW EMPLOYED ON SERA PROJECTS

Road Work in County Will Ultimately Give Employment to 500 or More

Four projects now under way, inaugurated this week under the supervision of the SERA, have put 151 men to work, and we can say now that emergency relief administration in Mendocino county is an evident fact.

The four jobs which were in operation up to Wednesday night are the Mast hill road project, outside of Willits, with 26 men employed; the Orr Springs road improvement, working 47 men; the Dos Rios to Covelo road, employing 42, and the Philo to Greenwood job, with 36 at work.

Five other undertakings are in the immediate future: The Mendocino to Comptche road, expected to begin February 22; the Pine mountain road, where work will also start the 22d, the Cummings to Bell Springs road, to begin March 1; Westport to Branscomb, March 4, and Point Arena to Boonville, March 8. Other new work will follow the meeting of the executive committee here yesterday.

When all undertakings now in view are in full swing, employment will be found for between 500 and 600 workers, each to have his quota of the labor, then making way for others in line.

Aside from the road work mentioned there are forces of women at work at the state hospital, in the office of the county probation officer and in the county school adequacy survey. Five persons are now at work making a survey of the city of Ukiah for the Federal Housing Act.

With considerably more than 1,000 now registered in the county headquarters, and the organization work shook down to a working basis since the coming of Miss Bertha Strange, future projects will get under way immediately they have final approval.

$30,362 Involved In 6 New Sera Projects

Six additional SERA emergency relief projects, approved by the San Francisco headquarters of the emergency relief board, for Mendocino county, will furnish employment for 203 workers at a total expenditure of $30,362.

The projects include improvement of Mast hill road near Willits, which will be regraded, widened and surfaced with creek gravel, at a cost of $5307, and will supply work for 44 laborers. Demolotion of the high school building at Covelo, cutting trees, pulling stumps and cutting stove wood will employ 11 laborers at a total cost of $1582. Improvement of the Branscomb road in the Third road district will employ 44 laborers and a foreman at a total cost of $6496. The work will include regrading, widening, cut-back and sloping and realignment. Improvement of Cummings-Bell Springs road by regrading, widening, cut-back, realignment and clearing right-of-way will employ 44 laborers and foreman and will cost $6507. Regrading, widening and realigning Pine mountain road at a cost of $2145 will employ 11 laborers and foreman. Regrading, widening and clearing right-of-way of Mendocino-Comptche road will employ 45 laborers and foreman. Cost will be $8325.

Native Sons Grand Officer Is Coming

Monday, March 4, the Ukiah parlor of Native Sons of the Golden West will be host to Grand Trustee Joseph J. McShane of San Francisco, who will come to the city on his first official visit of the year.

The preparations for the evening include initiation of candidates for membership, to be followed by a banquet and other entertainment to make up an evening of pleasure for the grand officer and the members.

ELKS DANCE COMMITTEE

Ed Eversole was a member of the committee of 20 which arranged for the Elks dance and jamboree, held in Santa Rosa last night.

DEPUTY DIST. ATTORNEY

Clarence Tindall, former attorney of Lakeport and one time city clerk, was recently appointed deputy district attorney of Placer county.

FIRE PROTECTION DISCUSSION HERE

State and Federal Forestry Officials Will Meet in Ukiah February 26

A conference will be held in Ukiah, Tuesday, February 26, sponsored by the Conservation committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce, when fire protection needs for the north coast area will be outlined. The meeting will be held at the Palace hotel, starting at 10 o'clock.

Federal and state forestry officials, the director of the state department of natural resources, and PWA representatives will participate in the meeting.

The Public Works administration has asked the state chamber for an inventory of fire protection needs in the north coast district, and the conference has been arranged for that purpose.

Interested groups in all communities have been asked to bring suggestions for additional protection and improvements such as ranger stations, lookout towers, truck equipment, additional fire trails and similar fire protection facilities.

A complete program of fire protection needs will be worked out by the conservation leaders, forestry officials and natural resource department spokesmen, and will then be proposed for consideration under PWA funds.

The conservation work has been taken up as a new branch of the PWA, and north coast civic leaders are anxious to benefit under the set-up as much as possible.

VISITED SICK MOTHER

Mrs. Robert Keeline of Fort Bragg came to Ukiah last Sunday to visit her mother, Mrs. George Thomas of south State street, who is recovering from a recent major operation. Mrs. Keeline returned home Monday.

North County Will Get 2 New Bridges

Mendocino county undertakings, under consideration through the PWA, and for which the government has allocated funds, include two bridges and approaches in the north part of the county, which will be advertised in the Eureka district. These are the Red Mountain creek and McCoy creek jobs on the Redwood highway near Piercy and the estimated cost is $110,000.

The so-called Outet Cutoff, between Willits and Laytonville, which is designed to realign the Redwood highway, will also come under consideration shortly.

Paving of Main street in Willits and State street in Ukiah will start as soon as the weather settles sufficiently to insure undisturbed prosecution of the work.

Merchants Training Starts Here March 4

The Independent Merchants school of merchandising and salesmanship will be held in Ukiah the week of March 4, with Sam Worswick, merchandising expert from the headquarters of the state association, here to conduct the training and deliver lectures.

Mr. Worswick last week finished his school in Eureka, with 517 in attendance at the last session. He passed through Ukiah en route to Fort Bragg, where he rendered aid to the merchants there, who are to organize the first of March.

BERNHARD IMPROVING

C. A. Bernhard, who has been confined to his home by an aggravated case of influenza, is much improved and hopes to return to his place of business shortly. With a multitude of matters to care for, Mr. Bernhard has suffered as much from fatigue as from the prevailing malady—the flu.

INTENTIONS FILED

The following have filed with the county clerk notice of their intentions to wed: Arthur J. McArthur, 34, and Lena M. Manchester, 30, both of Fort Bragg; Roswell C. Morley, 21, and Ruth Hawkhurst, 18, both of San Francisco.

VISITING IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. W. B. Hagans left yesterday for San Francisco, where she is visiting their son, Will, jr., over the weekend.

Mrs. Robt. Anderson Funeral Rites to Be Held Next Saturday

After several months of failing health, Mrs. Robert Anderson died Wednesday evening at the family home at School and Scott streets, aged 72 years.

Funeral services will be held in the Eversole Mortuary Saturday at 2 p. m., with Rev. Lynn T. White, minister of the San Anselmo Presbyterian church, officiating. Cremation will take place at Cypress Lawn in San Francisco next Monday at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Anderson was a native of Denmark and came to America 48 years ago and was united in marriage to Mr. Anderson at that time. They moved to Ukiah about 32 years ago and have been honored residents of the community since then. Before coming to Ukiah they resided at Benicia.

The husband and five children, bereaved by her passing, are all residents of Ukiah. They are Paul, Fred and May Anderson, Mrs. Ida Enright and Mrs. Jenny Austin.

Coast Tie Maker Is Accidentally Killed

Deputy Sheriff Earl Bishop and Under Sheriff B. C. Broaddus were called to the Navarro district the first of the week to investigate the death of Angelo Pettri, Mendocino tie maker, who was found dead, under what was thought to be mysterious circumstances.

Investigation proved that death was accidental and was caused by a fall from a trestle across a creek. It developed that Pettri had been drinking before starting home Saturday night. A quart bottle of wine was found, unbroken, under the dead man's arm when the officers arrived to investigate.

The bridge from which Pettri took the fatal drop was only about four feet high, but the creek bottom was strewn with jagged rocks. The dead man received deep cuts over his left eye, and under the eye; his nose was broken.

Discovery was made Sunday morning by Ross Storie, member of Camp Navarro, who was out for a walk.

The dead man has a brother living in Mendocino. His wife is living in Italy.

K. P. District Meet In Ukiah March 6th

The district convention of the Knights of Pythias will be held in Ukiah Wednesday, March 6, bringing delegates here from Fort Bragg, Willits, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg, Garberville and Eureka—in all, at least 100 official representatives of local orders. High officials of the lodge may possibly be included among the guests Ukiah will be called upon to entertain.

At the last district convention held in Willits there were 80 delegates present. The date of the coming meeting here augures well for a considerably larger attendance.

Barlet Given San Quentin Sentence

J. C. Barlet, the last of the trio involved in the killing of the Raymond Ornbaun heifer, was sentenced Thursday to serve the term prescribed by law in the San Quentin penitentiary. It was Barlet who shot the animal, according to the evidence of the hearing.

Barlet applied for and secured a sanity hearing and was found sane, before his hearing was held in Superior court Thursday morning.

In company with Deputy Sheriff Earl Bishop, Barlet went to San Quentin Friday morning.

BROTHER DIED IN CITY

BUYS SOUTHERN LAND

Percy Letts, former Redwood Valley man, recently purchased 160 acres of land near Gulfport, Mississippi, and will make that section his home and engage in the culture of nuts used in dye making. Mr. Letts left the valley some weeks ago on an extensive tour, which took him first to Yosemite valley and then to the gulf states, as far south as Florida.

EMPIRE MEETING

The "little convention" of the Redwood Empire association, which convened in Ukiah Thursday morning, assumed the proportions of a main event. With more than 200 delegates and interested visitors here, the occasion approximated a first line offensive in some matters which came up for action.

The afternoon session, held in Odd Fellows hall, was devoted to discussion of the proposed legislation to include the county roads in the state highway system.

At the hour of going to press, Thursday afternoon, the spokesman for the city and county of San Francisco was making it understood that his constituents were emphatically opposed to the measure. He accused Senator Biggar, author of the road bill, of mesmerizing the attending supervisors so that everything said in favor of the bill was taken as a matter of course by them.

Action taken on the measure at a late hour was against the bill.

The hotels and resorts committee met during the forenoon and discussed the new Empire sign, which is to be adopted for all hotels and resorts, and also went into the matter of extending school vacations to allow more time during the best season of the year that those who so desire may visit the Empire section and see its glories.

DISPATCH WANT ADS PAY

What's In a Name?

By GRACE WORTHINGTON

©. McClure Newspaper Syndicate WNU Service

SCOTT MORGAN stared at the telegram before him. It was from his assistant, Tom Haddon, dated Washington:

MARRIED THIS MORNING STOP SWELL IDEA STOP WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT STOP NOT INTERFERING WITH MY ASSIGNMENT.

So that was why Haddon had been so anxious for the Washington assignment. He remembered vaguely Tom's girl lived in Washington. There had been a misunderstanding: Tom had gone around scowling for days and smoking countless cigarettes.

Well, thank heavens, that Sylvia Ralston affair had taught him his lesson! His first year in New York, too. He had been mad about her; worshiped her. And all she wanted was his influence as a reporter. Well, he had come through for her. Rotogravures; newspaper and magazine articles glorified her. She got her big break . . . and coldly discarded him. Funny he should be thinking about her now. But how could he help it? Today's papers had chronicled her third marriage. Her pictures showed her even more glorified than ever.

At least Tom's girl was sincere; she had complained because Tom had taken out another girl when he was engaged to her. It must be wonderful, Scott thought, for a girl to hold an engagement so sacred.

Mary Sanders came back from lunch and hung her hat on the rack just outside his door. He gave her a curt nod; it was almost rude, she thought. She went into her own cubby-hole of an office next to his, banging the door after her.

"All settled," Scott heard her say. "I'm changing my name."

Leslie Miller stopped her typewriting. "But you weren't at all sure you'd do it this morning!"

"I know, but Doctor Urbanic convinced me at lunch time."

"You seem pretty unenthusiastic," Leslie observed, "for a girl about to change her name and with it the whole destiny of her life. Don't you like the new name, Mary?"

"No!" There was utter distaste in her voice.

"Then, dear, why do it?"

"Oh, the doctor convinced me that for material and financial reasons—for social success and—"

"So!" Scott Morgan observed. "So!" Even Mary Sanders would barter her soul for material and financial reasons. Who could a fellow depend on!

He remembered how often he had had to fight off a tenderness for Mary.

Leslie Miller was saying: "But I wouldn't, Mary, dear, not unless I was entirely satisfied. Hold on to your own name and wait till something better comes along. You'll get a bright idea one of these days."

"What do you mean wait till I get a bright idea?" Mary almost cried. "That's all I ever get. Doctor Urbanic says so, too! But what do I get out of it? Not even a raise! Here I plan the whole campaign that gets the new cigarette account from every agency in town—me, a mere girl! And who gets the plums from my bright ideas? Tom Haddon is sent down to Washington to do the publicity stunt that I planned. He gets a raise, too. Scott Morgan brings in the whole lay-out to the president and probably grabs all the credit. I suppose he gets a good bonus, too. While I—I—You just bet I'll change my name!"

"Mary! Why I thought you liked Scott Morgan! . . ."

At that moment Scott Morgan entered. He was flushing furiously. His red hair seemed even redder.

"I had no intention of envesdropping, Miss Sanders." His voice was like cold steel. "But I assure you I received no bonus on your brilliant ideas. If you had been content to wait until tomorrow, the end of the month, you would have seen I recommended you for a sizable increase in salary. As for a girl changing her name for financial reasons . . . social success . . ."

"It is no concern of yours why I change my name!"

"It is my affair when you say you're changing your name because I got a bonus on your bright ideas. . . ."

"You're insufferable! I loathe you! I've always loathed you!" But tears were in her eyes; her hands trembled.

"And I do not exactly admire you, myself, Miss Sanders." Now his voice was a white heat. "I trust your doctor has all the virtues I lack—every advantage that—"

Leslie Miller laughed hysterically.

"Mary's not getting married! She's just changing her name numerologically to get new vibrations. Doctor Urbanic is a wonderful numerologist. Why, did you know that Mark Twain never had any luck under his own name of Samuel Clemens? All the movie stars—"

"Not getting married?" Scott Morgan gasped.

"Hardly," Mary announced grimly.

"Oh, no," Leslie went on. "There's not even a marriage vibration in her name! Nothing but kindness that's not appreciated, virtue that goes unrewarded, brilliant ideas that—"

"Leslie!" Mary's face was flushed. "I'm not exactly tongue-tied, and I didn't give you my confidence to broadcast to the whole office force!"

"Im not the whole office force," said Scott Morgan with commanding authority. "I'm merely a man so in love with you that he almost went crazy when he thought you were going to marry some one else."

Leslie Miller discreetly withdrew.

Willits News

WILLITS, Feb. 19.—About half the people living in this locality have had bad colds, which some call the flu. Most of the victims are not sick enough to go to bed and not well enough to attend to their regular duties. Last week there were 71 men at Camp Northwestern laid up with the epidemic, including the doctor. As a result of this sickness the minstrel show, which was to have been given last Friday night, has been postponed until March 1.

Holds Lambing Record

Austin Muir claims the record for lambing this season, for all Mendocino county. He has only a small flock of ewes, about 75, but their increase amounted to 137 per cent. Quite a number of other sheepmen are now lambing and all report marvelous results. A few of our ranchers lambed a month ago, and they did not have as good luck.

Buys Carload of Hogs

N. J. Kvale, Hopland stock buyer, bought and shipped a carload of hogs from Bell Springs station the first of the week. The price of fresh pork is now so high that few people can afford to eat it. Here in Willits our butchers tell us that they are now selling only one-fourth as much pork as they did a few years ago. The same is also true of cured hams and bacon.

Hog Control Meeting

Friday night interested ranchers had a meeting at the farm bureau hall and received checks amounting to about $1,000 for not raising hogs. This is the second payment, the first was about $2,000. The third payment will also amount to about $2,000. This hog control district includes the Little Lake and Long valley townships. It is said that the Round valley section will receive more money than all of the rest of the county put together.

Long Auto Trip Over

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hall returned last week from 2-month visit with relatives in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. Most of the places visited were in the sections which were so badly stricken by the drouth last summer and the Halls were surprised to see how the country had come back, in such a short time. In that section there were a number of heavy late rains and the prospects are excellent for good crops this year. The price of meat animals has doubled and the farmers are in good spirits. All told the Halls traveled about 7,000 miles and returned home by way of southern California.

Plan Long Auto Trip

Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Ricks are planning on making a long auto trip in a few weeks. Among the places they will visit are the Boulder dam, Grand canyon, northern Mexico and other points of interest.

Selling Many Horses

For the past year Dewain Cook has had a side line of buying and breaking wild horses. He has been very successful in this undertaking and last week went over to Nevada after forty more head. He will bring a few of them back on his truck and drive the others. Very few horses have been raised in this section since the advent of autos and tractors and the demand for them is now very pronounced all over the nation. Horses now bring just about twice what they did two years ago and the supply is negligible. Small farmers have discovered that horses are more economical than tractors, as they last longer and live off the land. Tractors are a constant expense for new parts, gas and oil and they have to be replaced about every five years. Horses are good for four times that length of time and new colts occasionally will replace the old stock. Reports from the east agree that horses and mules are now in greater demand than they have been for some years past.

Henry Frerichs Dead

Henry Frerichs, 77, died here last Friday and the funeral services were held from Anker's funeral chapel Sunday under the auspices of Willits Aerie, F. O. E., assisted by Chaplain G. H. Jones.

Deceased was born on a farm in Hanover, Germany, and came to this country about 50 years ago. He first settled on a farm in Kansas where he lived for six years. Forty-four years ago he came to Mendocino county and had lived in and near Willits since that date. He lived for some years in Laytonville and afterwards filed on a claim in the Tomki section. For about 25 years he has lived in Willits and for some years had been in business for himself.

His only relatives in this country are his sister, Mrs. Helen Simon and her two daughters, all of whom reside here.

Henry was honest and honorable in all of his transactions and never knowingly wronged anybody.

Locust Grove

A few years ago Mrs. Van and Mrs. Gertrude Wagner-Taft purchased a tract of several acres from the Northwestern Redwood company. This tract lies between the Hotel Willits property and the Sherwood branch railroad and is bounded on the east by the Redwood highway. Later the women divided the property, Mrs. Taft taking the north half. The front portion of this property is covered with a fine grove of large locust trees and she has established a service station on the Redwood highway frontage. Looking to the future, Mrs. Taft has had all the rear portion of this property landscaped and set out in about all of the native trees of this section, but mostly maple. A soon as the trees reach a proper size Mrs. Taft plans to build a lot of de luxe auto cabins among them and she will then have one of the choicest auto camps in this part of the state. A large tennis court now occupies a portion of the grounds and later more attractions will be added.

Old Sam's Advice

By E. L. GILL

©, McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

THE flower caught Bill Holland's eye. Blooming there so whitely in the stagnant waters of the swamp. He grasped Old Sam Matthias by the shoulder and pointed it out. Old Sam grunted in noncommittal fashion.

Young Bill had not been a cheerful companion to Old Sam on this last trip and Old Sam was showing his disappointment. Young Bill, for his part, was both definitely disappointed and irritated with Old Sam. He had come to the mountain shack of the old guide, seeking sympathy and help in the major crisis of his twenty-two years. But Old Sam was bored. Countless times before the boy had taken his problems to the unlettered, weather beaten old guide in the hills, and always before Old Sam had set him aright.

The old man's attitude deepened Bill's resentment toward the world in general—and Betty in particular. The entire trouble, of course, was Betty. It was an ancient story that Bill told Old Sam—a story of the magnificent love of a boy for a girl; the boy imbued with the idealism of the age of chivalry hopelessly, fantastically in love with a fascinating bit of a girl suddenly irked by the restraint of old fashioned standards and "out to find what life is all about."

It was not, Bill often told himself, that he had any desire whatever for the young lady's affection any longer. The maddening thing was that he couldn't rid his heart and mind and soul of her.

"I wouldn't know what to say to that son," Old Sam condescended once or twice during the day. Nothing more. And when night had settled and they sat on the porch of the mountain shack Old Sam talked of trout.

"I'm going to bed," the youth said.

"Got a little somethin' I'd might like to do tonight, been a thinkin' of that flower we saw back there in the swamp today. Somethin' sort of queer about that. Don't hanker much for sleep myself and have a mind to take the lantern and have a look. Better come along, you'll sleep the better for it."

The old man's suggestion sounded silly to the distracted youngster, who nevertheless consented, grudgingly.

The swamp was little more than a ten minute walk along the trail. Old Sam, boots drawn to his hips, led the way, carrying the lantern. The youth followed, flashlight in hand. At the edge of the water they stopped and, at Old Sam's direction, Bill searched the surface of the swamp until the flashlight caught the white flower.

"I'm a bit curious about that flower, Bill; I'm a-goin' to get it out and take it back to the shack; looks to me like a lily," and Old Sam started into the swamp, sinking knee-deep in the mire.

"It's some sort of a lily, sure as you live, son," he called back to Bill.

Back in the shack Ma Matthias rushed an old bucket, grumbling the while at "these consarn fool notions." Bill was dispatched to fill the bucket with clean rich earth and Old Sam set to work to replant his lily, talking the while in quiet, soothing tones, as he might have to a sick wayfarer.

"Brave little lady—had a right tough time of it out there in that swamp, I reckon.

"Can't figure out how you come to be in such a vile smellin' place—mighty bad company you was in.

"Seemed to like it right smart at that—stubborn as an old mule about comin' out—guess you didn't knew them weeds was a-goin' to choke you in time.

"There she is now, Ma, good as new—and ain't she a beauty! Reckon she feels a lot better, too—suspect if she could talk she would be a-tellin' us that she's mighty happy to get out of that swamp."

But Old Sam got no further with his monologue. Young Bill Holland was dashing out through the open doorway of the shack.

* * *

Betty was dancing lightly from table to table, regaling the party with a song. Bill stood, unnoticed, watching. He waited until Betty's solo dance brought her close to where he stood. As she whirled, he caught her upraised arm in a biting grip. A youth rushed forward to resent the indignity. Bill's fist caught the point of his chin.

The merry-makers confronted Bill en masse at the doorway, denouncing him in shrill outbursts. Meanwhile, Bill was delivering eloquent if disjointed references to poisonous weeds and filthy water.

Betty was a subdued young lady. The first flush of fiery indignation passed as quickly as it came. It may have been an expression on Bill Holland's face; it may have been something else.

She was quite ready to go to the car with Bill. Meekly, she allowed herself to be led up the steps of the recorder's home. Meekly, too, aided by Bill's gruff promptings, she answered the necessary questions.

When they were again in the roadster and Bill had pocketed the document given him by the recorder, Betty laid her head on Bill's shoulder and women-like, cried great, warm tears. Now, for the first time since he left Old Sam Matthias' shack far up in the hills, Bill's clenched jaw relaxed.

Far up in the hills Ma Matthias was again reminding Old Sam that he had to go to the swamp after breakfast. Ma was a practical soul and saw no sense in paying that florist down in town a dollar and a half for a potted lily and then leaving the pot buried in that dirty swamp.

But Old Sam was sleeping peacefully.

Potter Valley

POTTER VALLEY, Feb. 19.—Miss Dolores Clark and her friend Miss Patricia Crowley of Eureka spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Clark. Both young ladies are students at the Humboldt State Teachers' college.

ANDERSON VALLEY

BOONVILLE, Feb. 20.—Anderson Valley Unity club met Saturday at the home of Mrs. J. A. Heetebry with Mrs. Heetebry and Mrs. Henry Nunn as hostesses. Following the business session Mrs. J. H. Decater gave a very interesting book review taking "The Friendly Way," by Edgar A. Guest, as her subject, and reading a choice selection of poems that were greatly enjoyed. Delicious refreshments served by the hostesses completed a pleasant afternoon. The next club meeting will be held March 2 at the home of Mrs. I. C. Burke. It will be a "Silver Tea" at 25 cents and a playlet will be given under direction of Miss Brown. Guests are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Nichols returned from San Francisco last Thursday. A bad cough developed, due to change of climate, and prevented Mr. Nichols from undergoing the operation to have an old incision opened for proper healing. He will go back later. Deady Farrer drove down and brought them home.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Burke passed the weekend in Ukiah, where Mr. Burke attended a directors' meeting of the farm center and a stockholders' meeting of the Farmers' Club.

The executive board of the local farm center met at the I. C. Burke home Friday evening to prepare the year's program. They were entertained at dinner by the farm center social committee, composed of Mrs. I. C. Burke, Mrs. F. B. Cook, Mrs. M. C. Gowan, Mrs. C. S. Prather and Max Rawles. Members of the executive board present were I. C. Burke, V. R. Rawles, Hale Burger, F. B. Cook, Henry Crispin, Frank Patterson, M. C. Gowan and George Clow. Assistant Farm Advisor R. D. Foote was also a dinner guest and assisted in the program planning.

Rev. J. A. Heetebry, accompanied by Mrs. Heetebry, Mrs. B. G. Gowan, Mrs. A. McVicar and Miss Geraldine Johnson, are attending the 2-day missionary convention held in Lakeport this week.

Richard Day, Leland Farrer and Leslie Wilkins motored to San Francisco Friday to see Max Baer, heavyweight champion, at the Campbell benefit.

The Burt Paul family moved Saturday last to the H. T. Ornbaun house near Boonville; the house they vacated will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Lawson.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lycky were Ukiah visitors Sunday.

Dr. E. W. Jordt and wife, Dr. Dorothy Jordt, are passing a few days in San Francisco; their young son is being cared for by Mrs. R. E. Brown during their absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ball and family of Fort Bragg were recent visitors at the Richard Boyd home.

A number of cases of chicken pox are reported in the Counts school district.

Miss Gail Gleason is back at school after an absence due to a very bad cold that threatened to develop into pneumonia.

Friends here will regret to learn E. Estill of Ukiah, formerly a valley resident, is confined to his home with a broken ankle.

TEHAMA COUNTY KICKS

At the last meeting of the Mendocino county supervisors a communication was read from the board of Tehama county, seeking to enlist support for a proposed change in the fish and game law, to the end that the counties receive pay for prisoners given jail sentences under the law, or that fines imposed for such violations be paid to the county where the offense occurred, and not to the state, as is the presen case.

ROSE CARNIVAL DATES

Dates for Santa Rosa's 1935 Rose Carnival have been named as May 2, 3, 4, 5. This was determined last week, after some differences with the valley town, Sonoma, which will hold a centennial pageant there during the coming month of June. The Rose Carnival theme, based on Sonoma county history, was opposed by the sponsors of the Sonoma city fete, on the theory that it would detract from their June pageant.

SOCIETY

Thirty-eighth Birthday Parent-Teachers Observed

Throughout the breadth of the nation Parent-Teacher associations have observed Founders day during the past week, to honor those whose faith and vision brought the National Congress of Parents and Teachers into being, affording the opportunity for such as will, to meet together, think and act together on conditions having an influence upon the lives of all children. In this connection it is well to review facts leading up to, and culminating in the formation of the national congress:

February 17, 1897, in Washington, D. C., occurred the first official gathering of what is now the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. This was brought about through the efforts of two women, Phoebe Apperson Hearst and Alice McLellan Birney. The first was from San Francisco, the wife of the leading senator from California. How Mrs. Hearst was interested in the welfare of the children of the land need not be told here. From the Hearst Nursery School on Union street, in San Francisco, to the Gymnasium for Women on the campus of the University of California, this interest is recorded in stone. And it is even more permanently written in the lives of men and women who have received and are receiving education and life training through scholarships established by Mrs. Hearst in the universities and colleges of California.

Alice McLellan Birney was a native of Georgia and the wife of a prominent attorney at Washington. She also was interested in kindergartens. It was at a kindergarten meeting held in Chautauqua, New York, in 1895, that she first expressed the hope of an organization where mothers might discuss the problems of parenthood with a view toward the highest welfare of children.

Through the efforts of these two women, Mrs. Grover Cleveland, then in the White House, was interested, and, with her, official and social Washington. The newspapers of that time state "the success of the undertaking amazed even the most sanguine." And so was born what is now the Congress of Parents and Teachers, 38 years ago. Today it numbers over a million and a half. Every state, but one, is organized, including Alaska and Hawaii. The International Federation of Home School is a direct outgrowth, with its aim the welfare of the children throughout the world.

In 1910, Founders day began to have nationwide observance. Mrs. David O. Mears, a charter member and the first state president (New York), urged that the observance be made one of the tenets of the organization. In 1911, at the national convention in Denver, a resolution adopting such observance was introduced and was adopted in 1912, at the convention in St. Louis.

FIRST SOUTHERN MEETING

The meeting of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, to be held at Miami, Florida, April 29 to May 3, will be the first time in the history of the congress that the national convention has been held in a southern state.

Announcements sent out by Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, national president, say plans for the convention provide for at least two hours of freedom every day, giving opportunity for delegates to take full advantage of the recreational possibilities of the city.

"Home, the Index to National Life," will be the convention theme, and the national office is already sending to local P.-T. A. workers data supporting the campaign for kindergartens and nursery schools.

OBSERVED BIRTHDAY

Mrs. A. A. Doak and Miss Audrey Doak kept open house last Monday from 2 to 10 p. m. at their Park boulevard home, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Rev. A. A. Doak. Refreshments of cake and tea were served to 80 guests who called to pay their respects to the venerable citizen. Many gifts and a profusion of flowers were received from admiring friends. Decorations were in spring blossoms. Music was furnished by Olive and Clayton Rice and Lorraine Lang, who rendered accordion, cornet and violin solos, respectively. A group of young people sang a number of songs.

WILL BE WRITERS' GUEST

Anna Blake Mesquida, nationally known poet and short story writer, has accepted the invitation of the Santa Rosa Writers guild and will be a luncheon guest of the guild on June 15. Extensive plans are being made to entertain the distinguished visitor.

Citizenship Is Theme Of Saturday Club Meeting

Members of the Saturday Afternoon club were given a royal treat in the tenets of patriotism at their meeting last Saturday when John Harman of Fort Bragg addressed them on "The Trend of American Citizenship," emphasizing the necessity for united opposition to the entrance into our country of unwanted immigrants. The speaker took a strong stand for deportation of such as make themselves undesirable, after having partaken of our hospitality to all foreigners. He adequately summed up the abuses endured by this country from that element which has made itself the byword of the nation.

Mr. Harman was introduced by J. W. Taylor, superintendent of schools, who was a guest of the club, and who had been presented to the members by Miss Grace Toles, chairman of the American Citizenship section of the club.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. E. Reynolds, Miss Dorothy Giles, Mrs. Franz Grothe, Mrs. Minnie Jamison and Mrs. Hale McCowen, sr. Mrs Louise Bernhard, president of the club, presided.

The setting was entirely in keeping with the occasion and the message brought by the brilliant speaker. Flags and the national colors were used extensively in the scheme of decorations and the atmosphere was thoroughly patriotic.

Refreshments concluded the profitable afternoon.

FEDERAL ORPHAN AID

Dr. Ellen Stadmuller of the Child Hygiene department of the San Francisco Board of Health, addressing the Parent-Teacher workers in that city Wednesday of last week, advocated federal aid for children whose fathers have died or deserted their families. This idea was advanced as an addition to state aid for orphans.

The speakers discussed proposed bills which would provide such aid, and P.-T. A. workers were urged to make special study of such legislation and work for its passage. She urged as one of the chief advantages of such a provision, the continuation of aid to orphans and half orphans through the age of 18, whereas present state aid is discontinued at 16.

Dr. Stadmuller stated that health insurance, as advocated in bills now under consideration, both in national and state legislatures, is not entirely approved by the medical profession.

VALENTINE LUNCHEON

Kewanna Council No. 156, Degree of Pocahontas, gathered in regular meeting in Boring hall Thursday evening of last week, with Miss Erma Lang, Pocahontas, presiding and calling the council together. All officers were present and participated in the business meeting.

Following the business of the evening, the refreshment committee spread a Valentine lunch. A large, red heart formed the centerpiece for the table and red rose candlesticks with lighted candles added to the seasonal atmosphere. Each member received a white envelope containing a comic valentine. At the close of the feast these envelopes were opened and verses read, to the amusement and delight of all.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the lunch were Mrs. Don Crinella, chairman, Mrs. Minnie Sweeney and John Baccaglio.

MRS. FIGONE ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Elise Figone entertained members of Pocahontas council and their friends at her home Wednesday evening of last week. Bridge and whist furnishing the entertainment for the evening, three tables each, accommodating the guests. Prizes for the bridge were won by Mrs. Don Crinella, first; Mrs. Estill, second; Ben Edwards, third. The whist prizes went to Mrs. Louise McLain, first; Irma Ryan, second; Rose Atterson, third.

Mrs. Figone was assisted by Miss Mary Baccaglio, Miss Louise Baccaglio, Miss Irma Ryan and Miss Erma Lang.

The Valentine theme furnished inspiration for the decorations, which were carried out with a profusion of pussy willows.

GONE TO SOUTH AMERICA

Miss Antionette Royer of San Francisco, a sister of Mrs. Yamond York of Ukiah, sailed the last weekend for San Salvadore, where she has accepted a situation which will keep her in the South American republic for the next two years. Miss Royer is well known in Ukiah, having made frequent visits here.

WILL GO TO PEIPING

Mrs. Robert Duncan is making plans for sailing about the first of March for Peiping, China, where her daughter Roberta is engaged in the foreign legation, to make her home there. Mrs. Duncan is now residing at Hotel Canterbury, San Francisco.

Redwood Valley Meet Mendo-Lake Council P.-T. A.

The meeting, Wednesday of last week, of the Mendo-Lake council of Parents and Teachers, held in the auditorium of the Redwood Valley school, was attended by a representative number of members from both counties, and was presided over by Mrs. Don Macmillan of Hopland, council chairman. The business session opened at 10:30.

The feature of greatest interest during the afternoon session was the address by Mrs. Jerome Cross, president of the Fourteenth district. The gathering was delightfully entertained by Mrs. J. Branson, who sang "I Hear You Calling," and "Out Where the West Begins."

A folk dance, by the children of the first grades of the valley school, concluded the session.

At noon a hostess luncheon was served in Grange hall, where the Valentine influence pervaded the decorations with Chines lillies and and ferns further accentuated by nut cups and red hearts.

KOSMOS VALENTINE PARTY

Thursday afternoon of last week members of the Kosmos club were entertained by Mrs. E. M. McCorrison and Mrs. C. D. Atkinson at a Valentine party, amid surroundings which befitted the occasion admirably, and with the program entirely in keeping with the theme.

Mrs. Olive E. Busch told the history of Valentine day and recounted the origin of the customs of celebrating the season. "Valentine," a poem by Margaret E. Sangster, was recited by Mrs. C. A. Bernhard. Mrs. J. H. Hansen, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Spurr, sang "Smiling Through" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told."

OBSERVED FOUNDERS DAY

Redwood Valley P.-T. A. observed Founders day Friday evening of last week with a candle lighting ceremony, which took place in the auditorium of the valley school. A birthday gift, a small fee charged for refreshments, goes to support of the extension work of the association. The beautifully decorated cake used in the ceremony was the gift of Mrs. C. R. Yarbrough.

County Superintendent Taylor addressed the gathering on social and mental hygiene. Mrs. J. Branson sang two of her delightful solos, with Harry Reilly as accompanist.

ANNUAL COLONIAL TEA

Following their yearly custom, the ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold their Colonial tea as a memorial to Washington's birthday, and for which a program of entertainment has been prepared to fully meet the requirements of the occasion. Two particulars of the program will be vocal numbers by Mrs. J. H. Hansen and a talk by William Bromley. Mrs. C. W. Bradford, assisted by Mrs. Edgar Dutton, will have charge of the entertainment.

There will be a sale of fancy work and cooked food.

GAVE PARTY FOR SON

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ford gave a birthday surprise party for their son Ernest in the Guild hall, Hopland last Saturday evening, attended by many of Ernest's high school friends. The evening was passed in dancing and with games and was climaxed by refreshments, served by the hostess. The Ford family were former Ukiah folks.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE

About 150 persons attended the Redwood Valley dance given by the Ukiah Forty-niners in the valley Grange hall last Sunday evening, when old and modern dances were interspersed to the satisfaction of all present. The club will give another dance there March 3, to which the public is invited.

HOSTS OF AUXILIARY

The Leggett Valley post, American Legion will be the host to the newly organized auxiliary at a Washington birthday party tonight, featuring dancing, dinner and entertainment. Invitations have been tendered Ukiah Legionnaires.

PRE-LENTEN SUPPER

The Holy Trinity Episcopal church guild will hold a pre-Lenten supper and card party in Guild hall Wednesday evening, February 27. Supper will be served and contract and auction will be played. Reservations are in charge of Mrs. Edith Porter and can be made by phone.

TO GIVE JAPANESE TEA

Saturday afternoon, March 2, a Japanese silver tea will be held at the Christian church, typifying the Japanese festival, O Hina Sana. Tea will be served by the girls of the church and there is a program being prepared.

PUBLIC CARD PARTY

The Saturday Afternoon club will give a public bridge party at the clubhouse Saturday, March 9, beginning at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Frank Wilson is chairman of arrangements.

Murder Charge Not Filed in Death of Geyserville Indian

The slayer of Charles Manuel, Geyserville Indian, found dead in a ditch west of Santa Rosa last week, may possibly go unpunished. This was seen when the coroner's inquest found that Manuel came to his death by a blow on his chin. The jury did not name his murderer.

The open verdict was returned after the jury had heard LeRoy Duncan, 19, Covelo Indian youth who is held as a suspect in the killing, testify that he was so drunk that he did not remember what took place on the night before Manuel's body was "found" by Pedro Luna and several other Indians.

Duncan previously had admitted being in a car with Manuel and that he and the older Indian had gotten out to fight.

Eight other Indians, three of them women, who were passengers in the same car, gave similar versions. All were intoxicated and on a "joyride," they said.

Dr. H. J. Wright, of Healdsburg, autopsy surgeon, testified that Manuel's neck was broken from a blow, either from a fist or a blunt instrument, on the lower jaw or chin. The blow caused a fracture of the third vertabrae of the neck.

District Attorney W. F. Cowan and Coroner Fred Young conducted the hearing.

It was indicated that Duncan will be charged only with manslaughter in event officers decide to file a formal complaint. The youth admitted in an earlier statement, it is claimed, that he struck Manuel in face, but did not knock him down.

Healdsburg Contest Added to Ukiah Hi String of Victories

The Ukiah high school basketball A and B teams went down to Healdsburg last Saturday and divided the 2-game sesson with the high school of that city, losing the B game to Healdsburg by a score of 37 to 15, after a dull and uninteresting exhibition. Kinsler and Davis stood as high-point men of the contest. Pavioni scored 15 points for Healdsburg.

The main contest was won by the Ukiah team, with a majority of 19 points, the first half ending with the local five on the long end of an 18 to 2 score. The final accouning was Ukiah 35, Healdsburg 16.

Ledeboer scored 13 points, Weatherhead 11, Beebe 5, Rawles 4, Ford and Ivey 1 each. Peterson scored eight points for the Healdsburg school.

Baptist Church Services Sunday

The Bible school meets at 9:45 a. m. Some special features are being used in this teaching service of the church which add greatly to the interest.

As a result of the revival meeting which closed February 10, twenty-three persons have been baptized into the membership of the church, and six were received otherwise.

The sermon subject for next Sunday morning will be, "The Gospel Committed to Our Trust." In the evening the subject will be, "Rest for the Weary."

Try our welcome.

"A SERIES OF TESTS, COMPETENTLY CONDUCTED, SHOWED THAT CHICKENS WHICH HAVE HAD A SEVERE ATTACK OF COCCIDIOSIS NEVER BECOME PROFITABLE BECAUSE (1) THEY DO NOT ATTAIN NORMAL WEIGHT WITHIN 5 TO 6 MONTHS AFTER THE ATTACK, (2) THEY DO NOT BEGIN TO LAY UNTIL 6½ WEEKS OLDER (ON THE AVERAGE) THAN UNINFECTED BIRDS, AND (3) THEY LAY ONLY ABOUT ONE-HALF AS MANY EGGS AS UNINFECTED BIRDS. SEXUAL MATURITY WAS ALSO DELAYED SOME 6½ WEEKS."

These appalling indirect losses, caused by heavy infections of coccidiosis, can be checked and high resistance or immunity to the disease can also be established. This has been conclusively proven by THREE YEARS SUCCESSFUL EXPERIENCE IN THE FIELD by successful practical poultrymen who have adopted THE DOUBLE CHECK PROGRAM OF COCCIDIOSIS CONTROL.

This scientific treatment is based upon rational sanitation and the periodic feeding of COXEY-CHECK MASH which contains a complex anti-parasitic compound, so basic in character, that many patents have already been granted and others are pending, thus clearly indicating that "COXEY-CHECK IS NOT JUST ANOTHER REMEDY." This fact has been further demonstrated by sales to Pacific Coast Poultrymen alone of more than 1,000 tons (2,000,000 lbs.) of Coxey-Check Mash.

Don't make the too common mistake of believing that the losses from severe attacks of Coccidiosis have stopped when the outbreak is controlled.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL YOUR BIRDS HAVE COCCIDIOSIS. IT MAY THEN BE TOO LATE TO PREVENT THE SERIOUS AFTER EFFECTS OF THE DISEASE NOW SO CONCLUSIVELY PROVEN. IT IS MUCH SAFER AND MUCH MORE PROFITABLE TO CONSULT A COXEY-CHECK DEALER before you are confronted by this extremely serious problem, and especially when THE DOUBLE CHECK PROGRAM OF COCCIDIOSIS CONTROL costs only about 2½ cents per pullet to the age of six months.

More than 50 representative Feed Manufacturers on the Pacific Coast make or distribute COXEY-CHECK MASH and recommend it to their customers.

The Coxey-Check Dealer in Your Community Is

THE UKIAH FARMERS' CLUB, Inc.

Who will welcome the opportunity to discuss with Poultrymen and Turkey Raisers the proven value of Coxey-Check in the control of Coccidiosis.

Capacity House at Wrestling Premier

Promoter Sol Cohen's premier wrestling card at the Dreamland auditorium last Friday night brought out a capacity house and so thoroughly satisfied the hundreds who saw the three events that he is highly pleased and is planning bigger and better things for bone-bender fans.

Potter Valley was practically deserted that night, with the denizens packed into the auditorium to watch Johnny Weber, native son of the valley, win his match against Jerry Monahan, veteran of Santa Rosa.

Beginning with the March first contest, Mr. Cohen will alternate his wrestling show with boxing. Friday, March 1, will be a wrestling card and the evening of the 15th will see an exhibition of boxing. Cohen has talent already in mind for the boxing bouts and promises as good, or better entertainment as that provided with wrestlers.

Details of the March 1 contests will be given in the Dispatch-Democrat next week.

Preponderance of Farm Legislation

Many Bills Introduced to Meet Conditions; Deficiency Judgments Marked

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of four articles by Ralph H. Taylor, executive secretary of the Agricultural Council of California, and widely known commentator on government problems, analyzing farm issues of the 1935 state legislature. The agricultural council is the legislative body of 40 of the state's leading farm cooperatives, with a membership of more than 70,000 California farmers.

Riding out the pounding seas of depression, with a forecast of clearing skies and better days ahead, California agriculture, in common with business and industry, still confronts the equally difficult task of charting a safe passage from reconstruction to recovery.

And virtually every farm measure pending before the 1935 legislature reflects the urgency of the transitional period.

Whether good, bad, or indifferent, the farm bills, with few exceptions, represent an attempt to meet the changing order and make adjustments which will lead the way back to solvency and security.

Typifying this trend to fall in step with new demands and new conditions is a series of bills which would establish state marketing agreements for any commodity covered in federal marketing agreements.

The marketing agreement bills, for the most part, are merely an attempt to extend the work of the federal government, by providing for intra-state enforcement, by the state, as a supplement to inter-state enforcement by the federal authorities. The agreements would be entirely permissive, enabling the industry to work out its own solution of its own problems.

In addition to these bills, there are also measures which would set up the machinery for market control agreements covering all commodities, regardless of whether they were embraced in federal agreements, or not.

And supplementing the general list of marketing agreements is a Dairy Control Act—still in the semi-skeleton form—which would permit the establishment of control over intra-state shipments and sale of fluid, or market milk. The bill would enable the producers in any area, on petition of two-thirds of their group, to establish a market control agreement.

There are also pending many bills to establish codes of fair competition for all industries. The farmers' only concern, with regard to these bills, is that they shall not conflict with agricultural agreements. In the federal set-up, industrial codes have not encroached on the agricultural field, and farm codes have been carefully drawn to prevent encroachment on the industrial field. For the welfare of both groups, it is essential that the same general policy be followed in state legislation.

Another series of bills—by-products of the depression and the reconstruction period—would protect the farmer from deficiency judgments. Some would prohibit deficiency judgments entirely. Others, clearly justified by experience, provide that in cases where a farmer has borrowed a portion of the funds necessary to the purchase of a farm, giving a mortgage as security for the loan, it shall be presumed that the lender accepted the mortgage as sufficient security for the loan. Farm creditors, in such instances, would be prohibited from collecting deficiency judgments.

These bills seek to eliminate one of the worst abuses of the deficiency judgment system. Creditors, under the present law, have frequently forced a farmer to sell his property at a terrific loss. The creditor, in many cases, bidding it in, with the aid of friends. Then, not satisfied, the creditor has secured a deficiency judgment against the farmer to double and treble his profits in the years ahead. Hundreds of farmers have been ruined by the system, and the number of bills on this subject indicate that the public generally believe it is time to end it.

Next week: "The 'Come-back' of Better Standards."

KNIGHTS INSTALLATION

Rolland Bower, Frank Larson, Horace Dion, Robert Johnson and Leonard Weselsky were given the Knight rank last Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias, which brings the recent initiation and reinstatements in the order 16, with many other applications for membership and reinstatement to be acted upon.

WILL MOVE TO WILLITS

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gunderson of Redwood Valley will move to Willits where Mrs. Gunderson can have the advantage of closer attention of her physician and better medical service for afflictions which are impairing her health.

Mrs. Lois Sabin, who has been quite ill for some time, is reported very much improved.

Native Sons to Mix With S. F. Tonight

Tonight at the high school auditorium the Native Sons first and second basketball teams will play a doubleheader. The first contest will be between the second team and the Potter Valley Recreational league five.

The San Francisco Boys club is sending its crack string of basketeers here for the main event and the Sons have promised to introduce something novel in their game for the evening. Playing the same San Francisco aggregation last year, the local Sons won by two points.

Admissions for the game tonight are 25c and 15c.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

Wednesday evening in the Recreation league basketball games the Rotary were defeated by the Native Sons, score 28 to 18, and Calpella won from the 20-30 Club, 39 to 18.

At next Monday evening's games there will be an exhibition of wrestling by Johnny Weber of Potter Valley and his manager, Paul Poulos. This exhibition will be staged between the first and second game and will be for a demonstration of wrestling holds.

ORGANIZED FORT BRAGG

A. T. Henrich, secretary-manager of the Independent Merchants association was in Fort Bragg last Friday and Saturday, assisting the merchants of that city in their preparations for organizing the coast into an allied association. All preliminaries have been concluded there and a mass meeting will be held March 1, for completing the organization.

CORN-HOG CHECKS OUT

Corn and hog raisers of Mendocino county, who participated in the federal government's program of pork restraint, are this week receiving the second payment for their "efforts." Checks totaling $3,273 are being mailed by Mrs. Verna Corbett, Willits, county chairman of the program. A new sign-up for the coming year is now under way.

SERA HEAD OFFICE MOVED

The area headquarters of the SERA for the five north counties, which includes Mendocino county, is to be moved to the second floor of the Leppo-Churchman building in Santa Rosa. The new location is on Exchange avenue and the transfer will be made next Monday.

OUR SHARE, $10,293

Mendocino county's share of the $5,444,198 collected by the state motor vehicle department in fees for the period from January 1 to December 31, 1934, is $10,293.80. Of the 2,080,884 paid registrations in the state, Mendocino county has 7,869, divided into 6,877 automobiles, 688 trucks, 266 trailers and 38 motorcycles.

Local Chapter State Employees Hold Get-Together Conference

Employees of the Mendocino State hospital, affiliated with the California State Employees association, held a special meeting last Monday night in the auditorium of the hospital to consider certain legislation now pending, which is of prime importance to the association.

Dr. R. A. Cushman called the 150 members and employees present to order at 7:30 and in a brief, pointed talk explained the fulfillment of the administration's promise to the employees of the state. Dr. Cushman spoke for half an hour and covered the ground thoroughly. He was accorded the close attention of his hearers.

Night Supervisor Kelley Thrailkill, president of the Mendocino chapter, reported on the convention held in Los Angeles in February, to which he was a delegate. Gunnar Spjuth, also a delegate to the Los Angeles meeting, followed with his observation, gathered at that convention.

Following these addresses the chapter met in business session and admitted six applicants to membership. Mrs. Joseph Bingham, secretary of the Talmage chapter is receiving applications daily. The session concluded at 8:15.

Roy Soper, chairman of the entertainment committee, had provided for the pleasure of the members with two hours of dancing, followed by refreshments. Five pieces from Kelly's Vagabonds furnished the music for the dance.

The California State Employees association now has 12,800 members in the 48 chapters of the state and is composed of the officials and employees of state institutions, banded for promoting the interests of the members and the insitutions they represent. At the present time they are engaged in an effort to promote 100% membership.

Head of Sisterhood Passed Last Monday

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning in the Albertinum chapel for Albertina Ross, sister superior of the Albertinum schools, who died Monday morning. Father Berchmans Cantillion officiated at the rites of the Catholic church and interment was made in the sisters' plot in the Catholic cemetery.

Sister Albertina was born in Chicago and came, with her parents, to San Francisco 45 years ago. She was about 69 years of age. Entering the religious order Sister Albertina devoted the remainder of her life to education of children. For a number of years following entering the sisterhood, Sister Albertina was stationed at Portland and later at Los Angeles. She had been in Ukiah six years.

Attorneys Irving Brazier and Henry Spurr were in Willits last Monday, representing the contending parties, Grove vs. Munson, in Judge Larson's court.

"BETTER QUALITY DAIRY PRODUCTS"

Judge Held Working To Save Jury Costs

In an effort to avoid unprofitable expenditure of county money in impaneling juries, Superior Judge W. D. L. Held recently evolved a questionnaire designed to eliminate "dead wood" from the list furnished by the supervisors, for jury service.

A recent communication sent to each of the 400 persons, whose names were selected for service during the year, contained a reply postal card for the use of the prospective juror in catalogueing his or her valid reasons for being excused from duty.

The time limit for making replies was set as March 25, and already a sufficient number have shown legal cause for release to indicate that at least 10% of those drawn are excusable, or are unable, by reason of their environment, to attend court. Some of those on the list of 400 are now non-residents; some have moved and their addresses unknown.

In the past, where jury service has not been thoroughly understood, many have answered their summons only to be excused. In such cases the expense to the county can easily run as high as $15, with the disadvantage and added expense of finding it necessary to make additional summons, and the delay and extra costs incidental.

If the 10% estimated as unavailables holds good throughout the total number of jurors selected, the county is saved a probable $600 item.

LOOKING at WASHINGTON

Congress is having a busy time with many legislative problems before it. Among them may be included the $4,800,000,000 work relief bill, economic security, transportation and aviation, national resources, renewal and revision of NRA, new powers for the Federal Reserve Board, the budget, the bonus, the munitions inquiry, and the problem of expanding our foreign trade.

The committees dealing with these major issues are working hard, but progress seems to be difficult and unless some speed is shown in the near future, the congressmen will be spending the summer in Washington or else rushing legislation pell-mell in order to get through and go home.

Last week the Work Relief resolution was being considered by a Senate committee, which at one time voted for the payment of "prevailing wage scale on all governmental projects." This was something of a victory for the American Federation of Labor but was short-lived because, upon reconsideration, the committee reversed itself. Labor leaders contended that when the government set up a wage scale below that for similar work in private industry, the effect is to bring down the scale for private employment.

The Administration, on the other hand, insisted that the "prevailing wage" provision would increase the cost of the work relief bill by two or three billion dollars and defeat the essential purpose of the President's program, which to to provide a substitute for the dole. The proposed wages would be larger than the relief contribution of the government, as the President stated, "Not so much as to encourage the rejection of opportunities for private employment or the leaving of private employment to engage in Government work."

It is beginning to be apparent that some congressmen are beginning to worry about the charge that the legislative body is becoming a "rubber stamp" for the President. Any observer realizes that Congress seldom originates legislation. As a result, Administration leaders in Congress and, particularly in the Senate, are seldom in a position to talk freely or comprehensively of legislative plans.

In fact, Administrative steersmen sometimes are unaware of the details of legislative plans until they are worked out by lawyers in the Executive Department. Moreover, originated in the Executive Department, the plans are subject to change without notice, which would leave the congressional spokesmen suspended high and dry in the event that he attempted to take the role of prophet.

Again, there seems to be some friction developing between the House and the Senate because the former, accepting the gag rule, has limited debate and refused to accept any amendments at the President's request. Then, the members become hot and bothered when the Senate mangles the measure, sends it into a conference where the House has to recede or do the fighting.

Some observers professed to see the President's answer to the "rubber stamp" complaint when he submitted to Congress the framing of legislation extending the life and powers of the NRA. While the President will urge such an extension, he intimates that the drafting of the bill should be left to the wisdom and judgment of Congress. Inasmuch as the NRA is under heavy fire from organized labor, as well as a number of other people, the Congress has been given a "live wire" to hold.

No reader of current news events can fail to be impressed by the ominous preparations for war which seems to be under way in many countries. Affecting this country is the policy of Japan and the calm insistence of her statesmen for naval equality, coupled with the suggestion that everything the United States does in the way of preparation is aimed at Japan. Last week, Tokyo spokesmen suggested revising the anti-fortifications pact in the Pacific, naively declaring that limitations upon Japanese fortifications should be removed and those upon American activities be made more stringent.

Meanwhile, Army and Navy preparations in this country indicate an unprecedented peace-time expansion in land, sea and air services. In fact, expenditures for national defense may pass the billion dollar mark. Some idea of the extensive program under way can be gained by a mere citation of projects now under construction or serious consideration.

An $11,000,000 war base for Hawaii has been recommended with the idea of pushing our first-line of defense two thousand miles into the Pacific. A chain of airports, beginning in Alaska and ending in the Panama Canal Zone, would make the Pacific Coast the second line of defense. In addition, an army modernization program with an increase of one-third in strength and a mass increase in aircraft might boost the military expense to more than $400,000,000. The Navy's allowance is nearly $500,000,000, which does not include a PWA allotment of $179,500,000 for naval building. Leaders in Congress declare that this program might take first rank for size in current world expenditures but that it was definitely "defensive" and a constructive source of wide employment.

Construction of the new air base in Hawaii was authorized several years ago but the work has been held up by lack of funds. If undertaken now, the huge base, in terms of naval strategy, would make an "American inland sea of the Eastern Pacific between Alaska, Hawaii, Panama and the United States."

The Army's part of the defense program includes the addition of nearly 65,000 men and an enlarged air corps of 2,320 planes. It will include 1,000 fighting planes, comprising about an equal number of swift bombers, pursuit and attack planes. The force would be grouped in five "wings," concentrated at major air fields and capable of quick mobilization into a single striking unit.

Space this week does not permit any extended discussion of the rift between the President and Labor, which has been softened by a conference between the Chief Executive and a group of Labor leaders. Nor can we give space to the evident intention of Secretary of State Cordell Hull to vigorously press his program to increase our foreign trade, which will inevitably involve the lowering of tariffs on certain commodities in this country. Of late, Mr. Hull has shown an increasing willingness to speak out in condemnation of the present American tariff.

Another matter with which our readers are probably familiar, since we discussed the question two weeks ago in this column, is the proposed regulation of holding companies, whose practices are being constantly exposed by the continuing revelations made by the Federal Trade Commission's investigations.

Doing Good Business in Walnut and Burls

V. H. Davis will ship his fourth carload of peperwood burls and walnut logs to Germany in a few days. The burls came from the Greenfield ranch, on the Orr Springs road, about 12 miles northwest of Ukiah. The walnut logs are from trees that grew in Ukiah.

Mr. Davis states that there is considerable demand for black walnut timber and he hopes to buy a considerable amount in this vicnity.

He also has orders for burls to be shipped to Kansas City and New York, where they will be manufactured into veneer for furniture.

The prospects are that his crew will be doubled as soon as the weather settles.

Timely Hints

By HELEN M. SMELTZER

"EFFICIENCY! That's what you women need to learn!" Ben Gardner paced up and down, around little heaps of things not yet picked up from the bedroom floor. "If men ran their offices as carelessly as you women run your homes!" he continued. "If we utterly disregarded system the way you housekeepers do. Oh heavens! what a mess it would be."

"Oh hush up, you make me nervous." Esther shoved back bright curls. "I'm tired of always hearing you rave about masculine efficiency."

"Just like you—taking offense when I try to give a few helpful hints," Ben retorted.

Esther surveyed the cluttered room She did try to plan, but there was always something coming up. One could say, "Dishes, 8 to 8:15; beds, 8:15 to 8:30; and so on. It looked fine on paper. But baby would choose 8:00 to fuss. He couldn't read mother's schedule of work. Esther grew highly indignant.

"Forget it or you'll dud your shots." She kept her voice bright—it was still early in the day and she had a lot to do. She had to be cheerful. Baby to bathe, dress, feed, put to sleep; dishes to wash and wipe; kitchen to mop; baby's washing; beds; clean up the living room; lunch—the morning seemed too short. Oh, well, no need for lunch exactly at twelve today. Ben's vacation took care of that He didn't need to have a punctual meal these two weeks. Esther tied her neat apron hastily as The First started to wail for his breakfast.

• • •

Twelve o'clock "Lunch ready?" Ben's booming voice woke the baby Little Ben had refused to stay on schedule that morning and had started his nap an hour late.

"You quiet the baby. I'll be right down to fix something," Esther called from their bedroom.

"What! Nothing ready for lunch? Why it's twelve o'clock!" Ben sounded peeved.

"No hurry today, dear, you know." Esther called. 'You don't have to be anywhere at one."

"You women!" Ben exploded again 'Say listen here, Esther. This afternoon you and I are going to take an hour off and I'll plan your work for you, since you don't seem able to do it yourself." Ben lost his temper completely and Esther knew that his golf had been bad. But she grew very resentful.

Lunch was a quiet, sullen affair.

At three, after little Ben went to sleep—off schedule—Esther joined her husband on the terrace. She carried pencil and paper. Her voice was soft—too soft, if Ben had stopped to notice. It put him off his guard.

"See how easy it is, if you just stop to plan!" he was saying, condescendingly. "Even a nit-wit could follow this scheme and have time to rest besides."

Esther's smile only became sweeter 'You rest now, dear," she said in a concerned voice. "I must catch up on some tag ends so that this schedule can go into effect in the morning without a hitch I'm sure you'll find that things will run along as smoothly as they do in your office."

Bennie woke at six, as usual, and Esther fed him and put him into his kiddy pen to play. She prepared breakfast and put her hat, coat, and suitcase near the front door. The alarm rang at seven She heard Ben getting up as she slipped out the door.

• • •

"Well, how did the time budget work out, dear?" Esther, radiant, burst into the kitchen at twelve-thirty, three days later. Ben was preparing canned soup. The baby wailed.

"There! You've awakened the baby!" Ben's eyes were pleading. He was a bit embarrassed.

"Not off schedule, surely!" Esther appeared horrified. With a gay laugh she threw her arms around her unhappy husband. "Sorry I ran out on you, Sweet," she cooed. "But I got so tired of working so inefficiently I knew the baby was safe, and as long as you could run things so much more efficiently—"

"Cut it, Esther," Ben said. "I couldn't work the darn thing even the first day. I had Elsie come in to do some of the things, but even at that—"

"Some one called up, and there were five minutes wasted," Esther said.

"And Mrs. Roberts talked a half hour over the fence while I burned the rubbish Nosey," Ben confessed.

"And there was always something extra popping up, wasn't there, old dear?" Esther was really sorry for her husband.

"If you hadn't come today, I'd have hired everything done," he said.

"I was wondering if you would."

"Well, I was too stubborn, I guess," Ben admitted. "I just wanted to prove to you that it could be done. But it couldn't."

"Not with an infant around," Esther sympathized, hastening into the kitchen just in time to keep the soup from burning.

• • •

"Miss Ellis."

"Yes, Mr Gardner?"

"Are those statements ready?"

"Not yet, Mr Gardner, I'm sorry." Ben looked up from his desk "Efficiency! That's what you women need," his voice trailed into an awkward silence.

"I beg your pardon?" The secretary's voice was an inquiry.

"Oh, nothing," Ben mumbled.

WILLITS NOTES

Lockharts lived in Los Angeles for some years and last summer Mr. Lockhart returned to his old home in Ontario for an extended visit and Mrs. Lockhart returned to Willits. It was Mr. Lockhart's intention to join his wife here in a short time, having just written her to that effect. A few weeks ago Mr. Lockhart contracted a severe cold which turned into pneumonia, which was the cause of death.

Quadrio Brothers Store

Workmen have now completed the addition to the Quadrio Brothers & Company store and the new arrangement makes it one of the best looking stores in the county. About two-thirds of the floor space is devoted to ladies ready-to-wear and dry goods, and they have just received a large and complete assortment of these goods.

Section 3.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith, and Ordinance No. 241, are repealed hereby.

Section 4.

If any section, subsection, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or contrary to general law, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Board of Supervisors hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional and contrary to law.

Section 5.

This ordinance shall be published once in the Dispatch-Democrat and shall be effective on March 15, 1935.

The vote of the Board of Supervisors on the foregoing ordinance was as follows:

Ayes: Supervisors Haehl, Tadlock, Bittenbender, Perkins, Gordon.
Noes: None.
Absent: Supervisors none.

C. E. GORDON,
Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Mendocino County.
Attest:
H. M. BURKE,
Clerk of said Board of Supervisors.

New Tree Plantings Very Few This Year

There have been no new pear or apple orchards planted in Mendocino county this year, according to County Horticultural Commissioner Norman Buhn, although a few replacements have been made in orchards where old trees had died. The same holds true as regards the vineyards of the county.

Prunes seem to be coming back. Prices paid the ranchers last year were greater than for some years. The result was that a lot of our ranchers decided to plant prune orchards and they discovered that nurserymen had very little stock on hand and were unable to fill all of their orders. Prune trees were in such great demand that they sold readily for 55 cents each

For some years prune trees had been a drug on the market and nurserymen not being able to sell their stock were compelled to destroy thousands of the small trees.

The wine situation is very bad and very little wine is now being shipped east. It is stated that the California Grape Products company has shipped only four carloads so far this year. A normal year's shipment for this company is about 100 carloads.

Three Kindred Materials: Diamonds, Graphite, Coal

There is a strange and secret kinship between diamonds and graphite (used in lead pencils) and ordinary coal, declares a writer in the Washington Star.

All three may possibly have a common ancestry, though they come to very different ends. If you go back far enough you may trace the lineage of graphite and coal to those ancient trees which were cooked and changed by the pressure of hundreds of thousands of tons of rock. And whether or not diamonds are also products of tons of ancient chemistry, they, like graphite and coal, are pure carbon.

Just why the tremendous pressure changed some of these ancient plants into hard and brilliant diamonds, others into common black coal, and still others into a soft dark gray mineral admirably suited for writing, no one knows.

Graphite is much lighter than lead, with which it is ordinarily confused because both may easily be used for writing. But pure graphite is much too soft to be used in lead pencils, unless it is first hardened by being mixed with powdered coal.

Unlike coal and diamonds, graphite is a form of carbon which does not easily burn, and when it is mixed with clay it is used in making dishes and bowls which are heat-resisting. Its two other chief uses are in lubricants and paints.

The so-called "lead" in a lead pencil is much more nearly related, chemically, to the wood that encases it, than to the metal by whose name it is so often mistakenly called. Like the wood that holds it, graphite is a plant material, though the centuries of rock pressure have changed its form beyond easy recognition.

Thousands of Indians in Country Ahead of Whites

It is estimated that there were upwards of 1,000 Indian tribes at the time of the discovery of America, and the number of Indians has been estimated at more than a million.

The land lying both north and south of the Great Lakes, from the Mississippi to the Atlantic, was inhabited by the Algonquins, including the Delawares and the Mohicans. The Iroquois, comprising the six nations of Mohawks, Oneidas, Cayugas, Senecas, Onondagas and Tuscaroras, inhabited what is now New York state and southern Ontario. South of the Algonquins, from the Carolinas to Texas and Arkansas, were the Creeks, Choctaws, Cherokees and Seminoles.

The Indians of the great plains included the Crees, Chippewas and Ojibwas in the Northeast, the Omahas and Wichitas in the East and the Sioux, Assiniboins and Dakotahs in the Center. Among the Pueblo Indians of the Southwest were the Apaches and Navajos.

The California Indians or Diggers included the Washos, Yumans and Maidu. In the Northwest and British Columbia were the Bannocks, Snakes and Flatheads. In the North Pacific area were the Bellacoolas and Chinooks.—Detroit News.

Robin Hood

Robin Hood, the chivalrous outlaw and robber of medieval England, the best and most complete portrait of whom is that which was painted by Sir Walter Scott in Ivanhoe, where he appears under the name Locksley is the central figure of so many ballads among English speaking peoples that it is difficult to picture him as one other than a character of real life, writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. Nevertheless, there exists not a shred of evidence to prove that he really existed. Historians are almost unanimous in agreeing with C. E. Clark, who, in his book, "More Mistakes We Make," states: "No antiquary that respects his cloth will admit that he ever lived outside his ballads."

Legs and Character

A girl's character can be read by looking at her legs, declares a director of musical and dance numbers for a Motion Picture producing concern. "Slender-legged girls are usually indifferent to romance, whereas chubby legs indicate an affectionate nature," contends this authority. "Sharp muscles in the legs indicate a cold, calculating, sometimes cruel nature. The more deviation there is from a customary walking position, the more eccentric the girl. If she is confident, her steps are free and forceful. If she is timid, her walk is uneven and self-conscious. Intelligent girls lift their feet high; while clever girls have restless feet."—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Passenger Pigeons Extinct

About a century ago, billions of passenger pigeons flew about this country, darkening the sky for hours at a time. Flocks were sometimes four miles wide and nearly 250 miles long and the consumption of grain by such congregations was estimated to have been 17,000,000 bushels every 24 hours. Today they are extinct, the last one having died, it is believed, in the zoological garden of Cincinnati in 1914.—Collier's Weekly.

Danger From Lightsocket

Contrary to the general impression, a person can be electrocuted by the 110 volts of electricity in a light socket, particularly when his other hand is on a radiator or some other good "ground," writes Dr. S. R. Benedict, Birmingham, Ala., in Collier's Weekly. There have been thousands of such deaths. In fact current as low as 54 volts has been known to kill a human being.

NOTE:—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of their occurence, commencing with the early morning tides in the left hand column and the succeeding tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur, the fourth occuring on the following morning.

The column of heights gives the elevation of each tide above or below the level of the Coast Survey chart soundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depth.

The data is practically the same for Point Arena Light, Navarro River Entrance, Little River Harbor, Mendocino Bay and Fort Bragg Landing. For Westport subtract 5 minutes from the time and for Shelter Cove add 0.8 ft. to high tide.

OPPORTUNITY IS KNOCKING

The local post of the American Legion is mobolizing for an effort to bring the July convention of the First Area to Ukiah. They will put our claims for recognition before the April meeting of the area, which will be held in Marysville.

This convention, with its 500 delegates, would be a distinct advantage for Ukiah and should call out unanimous support from every individual and civic organization. The chamber of commerce is already aligned with the Legion, and with our reputation for knowing how, Ukiah should be able to make itself heard when the decision is made at Marysville next April.

After the proud manner in which we acquitted ourselves last summer, when the Native Sons conclave tested our capacity for entertainment, we can approach all similar undertakings with confidence and assurance.

Let's go after the Legion Area Convention!

LUTHER BAECHTEL OF WILLITS DEAD

Short Illness Takes City's Most Prominent Citizen and Civic Worker

WILLITS, Feb. 19.—Luther Baechtel died Monday afternoon following a short illness. He was taken sick with the flu about a week ago and rapidly became worse. Apparently he had some kind of stomach trouble and his heart was in such a weakened condition that doctors were afraid to operate. Up to this last illness Mr. Baechtel had always had fairly good health and his sudden passing threw a pall over the entire community.

Luther Baechtel was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baechtel and was born at the old homestead January 29, 1872. His father and Uncle Harry Baechtel were the first white settlers in this valley, having come here in 1855.

Luther was raised on the ranch and had the experience that most boys had in those days. He was always of a studious turn of mind and after receiving as much education as he could at the old Sawyers school he attended the Lytton Springs college, Sonoma county, where he specialized in commercial subjects and he followed that line of work most of his life. He was an expert accountant and held that position with the Irvine & Muir company for almost 30 years. Prior he was associated with his brothers, Gordon and Will, in the general merchandise business here for several years. Since the Irvine & Muir company went out of business he has been the accountant for the Willits Ice & Soda Works.

The only two exceptions he made to inside work was when he and his brother Will went to the Klondike in 1898, but after two years of hard labor they returned home poorer than when they started. Following their return from Alaska the three Baechtel brothers leased the Eden valley ranch which they conducted for several years.

Mr. Baechtel was a member of the Willits board of trustees for a number of years and during most of that period he acted as mayor. During the World war he was interested in all war activities and was one of the leaders in selling Liberty bonds and raising the various other funds. For years he has been very active in Red Cross work and the Boy Scout movement, which also took considerable of his time and money. He was a good citizen and always assisted every worthy civic movement.

In 1903 he was married to Miss Turberg Simonson, daughter of Ole Simonson, who was also one of our pioneer settlers. Five children were born to this union, all of whom are living. They are: Mrs. Marjorie Seibert of Glendale, Mrs. Harriet Stone of Berkeley, and Richard, Maxine and Will Baechtel of Willits. In addition to these five children and widow, he leaves two brothers and one sister, Gordon, Will and Lizzie Baechtel.

The funeral services were held from the home Thursday afternoon, Chaplain G. H. Jones officiating.

Card of Thanks

For the many expressions of sympathy and acts of kindness shown us in our recent bereavement, caused by the death of our husband and father, James A. Smith, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

ROBINSON IS RELEASED

Frank Robinson, negro rancher of this valley, who was involved in the grand theft charges resulting from the killing of a heifer belonging to Raymond Ornbaun of Boonville, was given probation with the provisions that he pay $200 court costs and $25 to Ornbaun for the animal killed.

Lon C. Scott was a recent dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hazell in Lakeport.

Public Library Adds 25 Latest Editions

Among the new books added to the reference shelves of the Ukiah public library is a set of "Birds of California" by William Dawson, which includes many color plates of our native birds. Also a new book by Homer House on "Wild Flowers."

Other editions added to the library recently are: "Personal History," Vincent Sheean; "House Divided," Pearl Buck; "Week End," Phil Strong; Heaven's My Destination," Thornton Wilder; "Delayin' the Sun," Anthony Thorne; "Forty Days of Musa Dagh," Franz Werfel; "Hornet's Nest," Helen Ashton; "Hawaii and the South Seas," Elizabeth Walker; "The Crusades," Harold Lamb; "Yonder Sails the Mayflower," Honore Morrow; "Sinbad the Soldier," Percival Wren; "Bright Mexico," Larry Barretto; "When Yellow Leaves," Ethel Boileau; "Folded Hills," Stewart Edward White; "Half Mile Down," William Beebe; "Now in November," Josephine Johnson; "Spider Woman," Gladys Reichard; "Story of My Life," Maxie, of Roumania; "Son of Marie Antoinette," Meade Minningerode; "Grover Cleveland," Allan Nevina; "Cromwell," Hilaire Belloc; "The Jasmine Farm," Elizabeth; "Lost Horizon," James Hilton; "Fire On the Andes," Carleton Beals; "I Worked for the Soviets," Countess Tolstoy.

Lakeport May Test Oleo Ban Ordinance

The Lakeport city council last week refrained from taking action in the matter of the oleomargarine ordinance, which has been urged upon the council by dairymen of the district. The council not only failed to act favorably upon the proposed measure, to prohibit the sale of the butter substitutes, but requested the city attorney to prepare an opinion as to the legality of such ordinance, and requested that the opinion of the attorney general of the state be sought in the matter.

There was a representative present at the council meeting from Swift & Company, prepared to protest any action against butter substitutes, who stated that while his company is large producers of butter, it was the opinion of the company that substitutes do not affect the sales of butter.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding." These words from Job comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, February 24, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Mind." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth in thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all" (I Chronicles 29:11).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Mind, supreme over all its formations and governing them all, is the central sun of its own systems of ideas, the life and light of all its own vast creation; and man is tributary to divine Mind. . . . The world would collapse without Mind, without the intelligence which holds the winds in its grasp. Neither philosophy nor skepticism can hinder the march of the Science which reveals the supremacy of Mind" (p. 209).

Miss Rowena Foley and Dale Morning of San Francisco were weekend guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Kirwin.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Geary attended the funeral of Mrs. Geary's brother-in-law, who was buried at Vallejo Saturday.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF MEETING OF CO. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The board of supervisors of the county of Mendocino met in regular session at 1:30 o'clock p. m. Monday, February 11, 1935, with the following present: Supervisors Ed Haehl, Orval Tadlock, D. Bittenbender, C. E. Gordon, members; H. M. Burke, clerk, by M. A. Carpenter, deputy clerk; absent, Supervisor Chas. R. Perkins, member; Chairman C. E. Gordon presiding. Supervisor Chas. R. Perkins appeared at 3:30 o'clock p. m. and took his place in this meeting

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved as so read.

A petition for change of boundaries between Seaside and Galloway elementary school districts, by taking certain territory from Galloway school district and annexing it to Seaside school district came regularly on for hearing at this time, and, on recommendation of the county superintendent of schools and after hearing all persons interested in said matter, the board granted said petition.

The board then adjourned to, and reconvened at 10 o'clock a. m. February 13, 1935, with all members and clerk present.

A petition for the erection of a fireproof jail at Laytonville was received and placed on file.

Permission was granted, by this board, to Wm. Graham to remove dead timber from Matie Roselle ranch in Redwood Valley, said property having been conveyed to this board under the Old Age Security act. The said permission was granted subject to the approval of Mattie Roselle and the clerk of this board was directed to notify Wm. Graham and Mattie Roselle of the board's order.

The matter of the condition of the red bridge across Eel river, about four miles west of Branscomb, was referred to Supervisor D. Bittenbender.

The board accepted a deed from W. J. Oxspring to the County of Mendocino for real property in Ukiah, ordered and directed its chairman to sign a resolution of acceptance of said deed and ordered said deed recorded. The property described was declared not required for public use and ordered sold by this board at public auction at east entrance to courthouse in Ukiah, Calif., at 2:30 p. m. March 12, 1935. It was further ordered that $400 is the minimum amount the board will consider for said property.

Two lots of land in city of Point Arena, belonging to the county of Mendocino were declared not longer required for public use and were ordered sold, by this board, at public auction at the east entrance to the Mendocino county courthouse in Ukiah, Calif., after giving notice, as required by law, in the Dispatch-Democrat. The board fixed $50.00, each, as the minimum amount it will consider for said two lots.

The following applications were received and placed on file: Armand J. Seghetti, for position of Mendocino county traffic officer; Howard McCandless and Percy E. Graham, for position of janitor for Veterans Memorial building in Ukiah, Calif.

The board adjourned to, and reconvened at 1:30 p. m. of this day, February 13, 1935, with all members, except Chas. R. Perkins, and clerk present. Supervisor Perkins appeared at 1:58 p. m. of this day and took his place in this meeting.

The board found and ordered that notice to bidders, advertising for sealed bids for publishing for the board of supervisors for one year, has been duly published, as required by law, in the Dispatch-Democrat on January 25 and February 1, 1935. At 2 o'clock p. m. of this day the board ordered all bids received for said publishing opened and the clerk publicly opened and read to the board the bids received, which were as follows, to-wit: Dispatch-Democrat, 10c per square; Redwood Journal, 25c per square. The bid of the Dispatch-Democrat was accepted as lowest and best bid, the amount of bond required of said successful bidder was fixed at $200.00, the district attorney was directed to draw a proper agreement between the County of Mendocino and Dispatch-Democrat and a proper bond in the said sum of $200.00 required of said Dispatch, and the chairman of this board was authorized and directed to execute and approve, on behalf of Mendocino county, a proper agreement with, and a sufficient bond by, the Dispatch-Democrat for said publishing.

After discussion, it was ordered that this board will agree to purchase from Crown Machine Works, after July 1, 1935, 25 Caterpillar tractor, serial No. 3C64, now in possession of the Third road district of Mendocino county, for the sum of $1337.69.

Supervisor Tadlock moved that this board go on record as favoring the inclusion of the roads of Mendocino county into the state system, in accordance with the Biggar bill before the state legislature. Supervisor Bittenbender seconded said motion, and the vote thereon, by this board, was as follows: Ayes, Supervisors Tadlock and Bittenbender; Noes, Supervisors none; Not voting, Supervisors Haehl, Perkins, Gordon. Thereupon the chairman declared the motion lost, and so ordered.

After considering the report of Martha Toles, county social agent, on indigent or needy matters, the board made the following orders: One new application for state and county aid to the needy blind was granted in the sum of $15.00 per month, cash, effective February 1, 1935; state orphan aid was granted one new applicant for two children, in the sum of $20.00 per month, cash, effective February 1, 1935. The following renewals were granted effective February 1, 1935, old age security, to five applicants therefor; state orphan aid to six applicants therefor; state and county aid to the needy blind, to one applican therefor.

A deed to real property from Benjamin Bugelmann to the board of supervisors of Mendocino county was accepted and ordered recorded, and the chairman of this board was authorized and directed to sign the acceptance of said deed on behalf of this said board.

The following reports were accepted and placed on file: Report by social agent of admissions to county hospital during the month of January, 1935, by superintendent county farm and hospital, by matron detention home, county nurse, agricultural commissioner, and predatory animal control in Mendocino county, all for the month of January, 1935.

The clerk reported to this board that, pursuant to its order, he gave notice, as required by law by publication in the Dispatch-Democrat, of the board's intention to sell property deeded to this board by Catherine King and C. O. McWilliams; that he offered said properties for sale at the time and place and in the manner set forth in said published notice and that no person or persons offered to purchase said properties at the price set by this board as the least amount it would consider.

The board endorsed, by unanimous vote, the resolution adopted by Tehama county board of supervisors whereby it favors amending the fish and game code to provide for the payment of fines imposed and collected for violation of fish and game laws into the treasury of the county wherein they are collected, instead of into the state treasury. It was further ordered that copies of this board's actions be forwarded to the county's legislators.

By unanimous vote, the board adopted Resolution No. 244, repealing ordinance No. 241 and fixing the compensation of, and providing for the employees of Mendocino county.

The board entered into an agreement with U. S. Department of the Interior, Indian Field Service, Sacramento Indian Agency, for board, room and care of Robert Duncan, orphan Indian ward child, beginning February 1, 1935 and ending July 30, 1935, five months at $15 per month, $75.00, and authorized its chairman to execute same on behalf of this board and the certificates of compliance required by U. S. government. It was also ordered that the chairman of this board, execute, on behalf of Mendocino county board of supervisors, claims for board, room and care of Mervin and Bill Robinson, orphan Indian children, beginning October 29, 1934 and ending January 31, 1935.

The necessary claims against Mendocino county were allowed as shown by the allowance book for February 13, 1935.

Supervisor D. Bittenbender was appointed director, from Mendocino county, of Joint Highway District No. 20 to succeed former Supervisor J. M. Rupe.

The board then adjourned and reconvened as a county board of equalization with all members and clerk present.

No matters being presented for the attention of this board, it adjourned.

Influenza Prevalent In Willits District

Reports from the Willits valley tell of a prevailing epidemic of influenza which has incapacitated many during the past few weeks. The epidemic is not serious, but sufficient to keep many of the victims at home.

Seventy-one members of Camp Northwestern were ill with the disease at one time, even the camp physician being sick. The camp's minstrel show, scheduled for last Friday night, has been postponed until March 1.

Alvin Farlow of Middletown was in Ukiah last Friday.

Harry Newberg, Round valley constable, was in the county seat last Saturday on business.

Final Rites Tuesday For Jno. Cunningham

Funeral services were held in the Eversole Mortuary Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 for John Cunningham, valley ranchman, who passed away Saturday night of last week, following a stroke. Rev. E. H. Benson, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church, officiated.

Mr. Cunningham was a native of Scotland and was 72 years old. His wife died in 1930. Funeral services were attended by a nephew, a Mr. McCreary of Los Gatos. A sister of deceased lives in Scotland.

A. T. McGreagor, head supervisor of the Mendocino State hospital, has been confined to his home the past week by illness, under the care of hospital physicians.

TO FACE MODESTO COURT

Richard Glenn and William Bradshaw, Modesto boys of high school age arrested two weeks ago by Traffic Officer Stultz, were returned to Modesto Friday from Santa Rosa by Sheriff G. M. Hogin of Stanislaus county. The boys, who were wards of the Stanislaus Juvenile court, stole an automobile in Santa Rosa and later got away with a tank of gasoline at Boonville before peing picked up by Stultz near Hopland.

SHOWS TOURIST INCREASE

California tourists for 1934, as represented by the permits issued for non-resident automobiles, showed a gain of 19,138 over 1933. The figures show a total of 110,018 non-resident permits issued for the year for as many cars coming from every state in the Union and most of the foreign countries. It is estimated that each vehicle brought an average of three persons into the state.

EMERY'S STORE EXPANDS

Emery's Millinery on south State street has been remodeled to provide accommodation for a new line of ladies' furnishings. One of the main lines to be added is a complete assortment of wash dresses in new and popular designs, fast colors, and at popular prices. Patrons are invited to call and view the assortment and also to see the spring millinery now in stock.

ROAD COST $10,000

The engineer's report of the cost of reopening the old Lakeport-Cloverdale road places the estimate at $10,000, much less than was expected by the advocates. The report is only a preliminary survey and when gone into thoroughly may change the figure, more or less, but not materially, it is thought.

MAKING SCHOOL SURVEY

A survey is now being made of Mendocino county schools, the object of which is to find if the schools have proper equipment. It is a SERA project and will be paid for by the government. So far only two investigators have been appointed: Mrs. Esther Short for Round valley and Mrs. Hazel Nobles for Point Arena.

FIRE OFFICERS NAMED

Neil Anker, chief of the Ukiah Fire Department reappointed A. T. Henrich first assistant chief, and named following new assistants: James Holland, second assistant chief; A. L. Harris, salvage chief; Bob O'Day, first captain, and Jim Brawn, second captain. These will serve during the coming year.

OPENS MODERN MARKET

A new meat market, equipped with all modern facilities, was opened by Alvin Williams in the new annex to the William Rood grocery store in Hopland last Saturday. The new building, new equipment throughout and the latest cold storage facilities promise Hopland as fine market service as can be found.

How Red Cross Society Was Originally Started

An international conference met in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1864, to devise a code of hospital and ambulance rules and safeguards for use in warfare. The Red Cross societies are the outgrowth of this convention.

A symbol and flag were needed to mark hospitals, ambulances and the persons carrying on this sort of work. The flag of Switzerland is red with a white cross. As a compliment to the nation in which the conference was being held it was decided to adopt as the international relief symbol this same device with the colors reversed—a red cross on a white field.

The American Red Cross was formed in Washington, D. C., in 1881, by Clara Barton, who became its first president.

How Long Divers Stay Under

On an average the pearl divers remain under water from 50 to 80 seconds, though exceptional instances are cited of men remaining below for as long as six minutes. The fishing grounds are in water about 40 feet deep and the season lasts for four months.

How Birds Locate Earthworms

It would seem that birds use their sense of hearing to locate earthworms. The fact is birds find their food chiefly by the sense of sight. Their behavior in cocking their heads while searching for worms and other food leads to the belief that the sense of hearing is involved, but this gesture is merely to aid in seeing. They do not have bifocal vision, and they can see best when a single eye is pointed directly at the spot or object to be examined. Birds have a poor sense of smell. The sound made by earthworms is very slight and resembles that made by a person when he moistens his lips and then opens and closes them without moving his jaws.

How Name "Horseradish" Started

Horseradish is a native of eastern Europe and is supposed to have received its name because the word horse was frequently used to denote a large, streng or coarse variety of plants or fruits. Hence, a coarse variety of radish. Horseradish was widely used by the Germans of the middle ages which caused the French to call it "moutarde des Allemands" which when translated into English means German mustard.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Mendocino Medical Society Meet, Dine And Elect Officers

The Mendocino County Medical society met Thursday evening of last week at the Palace hotel. Members and their ladies and guests gathered at dinner in the Canton room, where the management had prepared decorations of the prevailing motif for social affairs, consistent with the Valentine season. From a large floral centerpiece streamers were draped to the corners of the table, and large candlesticks completed the symmetrical scheme. Dinner was served to the following:

Dr. Babcock of Willits, Dr. and Mrs. Bowman and Mrs. Fairday, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd of Fort Bragg, Dr. and Mrs. Cushman, Dr. and Mrs. LeBaron, Dr. and Mrs. Toller, Dr. Wrinkle, Dr. Hummel, Dr. Petty and Dr. Starbuck of Talmage, Dr. and Mrs. Cleland, Dr. Bennett, Dr. and Mrs. Kirwin and Miss Hebert, and Dr. and Mrs. Abbott of Ukiah, Dr. and Mrs. Hill, Dr. and Mrs. Craig of Lakeport and Dr. Pinto of Covelo.

Following the dinner, and while the ladies met socially, the physician members held their business meeting and elected the following officers: Dr. R. B. Toller, Talmage, president; Dr. J. J. Kirwin, Ukiah, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Cushman was reappointed delegate to the state convention to be held at Yosemite; Dr. H. O. Cleland, Ukiah, alternate delegate.

Two Autos Wrecked; Driver Under Arrest

A headon collision between two automobiles near Calpella last Sunday night, at about 6 o'clock, endangered the lives of Mrs. Josephine Binner of Redwood Valley, Clara Vinton of Redwood Valley and Ward Young of Dos Rios, driver of the car which collided with the Pete Rovera car, driven by Richard Carter of Calpella.

Mrs. Binner received many painful cuts and bruises and was taken to the Ukiah General hospital for attention, where she remained overnight. Young also received emergency treatment for injuries.

In the car driven by Carter was his brother Arthur. The car driven by Young was completely destroyed by the fire which started when the crash occurred.

Traffic Officer Charles Ciancio investigated the accident and placed Young under arrest for driving while intoxicated.

20-30 SOCIAL EVENING

Members of the Ukiah 20-30 club spent a social evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Killen last Tuesday. Cards were the chief diversion.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCarthy, who were here for the wedding of Miss Eva Ward and Edward McCarthy, Thursday of last week, returned to Chicago Saturday by the way of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. John Isnard accompanied them to San Francisco.
